$1.8 million grant given for airport

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
Stennis International Airport has received $1.7 million in funding through a grant from the Federal Aviation Administration to overlay, stripe and extend the terminal ramp by 90,000 square feet.

The FAA grant is a 90 percent grant, the state department grant is 5 percent, so the Hancock County Port and Harbor will only have to come up with 5 percent of the cost for the project.

The runway at the airport has not been overlayed in more than 20 years and the engineer on the project, Carlos Cordon, said that funding for the project came just in time.

"We couldn't have made it another couple of years without the overlay. Efficient planning is what I attribute to us getting the grant. We planned ahead because we knew that we would be needing the money soon," Cordon said.

Although the airport runway is still considered extremely safe, the federal funding will help Stennis comply with new

Check-out policy discussed

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
The Hancock County School Board met with members of the faculty and principals to discuss the current check-out policy and to decide what amendments to the policy could be made.

The current policy states that high school students cannot check out early unless their parent comes to the school.

Board members said at the meeting that they have received numerous calls from concerned parents because their children could not check out early to go to doctors appointments because the parent could not leave work to come to the school. Because of this, the student was forced to miss the entire day of school.

Hancock High Principal David Kopf said that the current policy has improved attendance by 11.6 percent so far this year.

A committee, made up of faculty members, made the suggestion that parents come to the school and fill out an "exit card" which would give the names of two or three people besides the parents, who could check out the child in the event that the student should become ill.

It was also suggested that the parent be notified by the school of their condition and the parent then be responsible for contacting the person on the list who they wish to pick the student up from school.

Bay St. Louis will have two new motels in operation soon. Key West Inn officials say their 44-room motel on Highway 90 at Drinkwater Road should be finished in about a month. Construction of Casino Magic's 200-room lodge at Felicity and Engmann streets also is nearing completion. Officials there say they hope to be open to for guests by January. Bay discusses development plan

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Jackson consultants aired preliminary recommendations Thursday for the long-range development of Bay St. Louis, including a casino district with room for a controversial new development.

City Council members and officials of Continental Consultants stressed that the ideas aired during the meeting were strictly preliminary, draft suggestions that are open to revision before Council considers a final plan.

While much of the information offered Thursday was general in nature, some of the details put on the table are bound to rouse public comment.

A long-range land use map, for instance, proposes designation of the entire newly-annexed area as a casino district. That includes the tract operated by Casino Magic, and the undeveloped Raintree Casino tract at Cedar Point.

Planning and Zoning Commission Chairman Les Fillingame told Council the scope of the casino district had prompted extensive discussion. The idea of allowing a second casino in the annexed area was bombarded with public protest during a series of preliminary planning meetings.

Just before annexing the property in 1991, however, City Council agreed in a legal document that the property owned and controlled by Richard F. Kinst, known as Raintree Casino, could be developed for casino purposes.

The pre-annexation agreement, in fact, promised that during the comprehensive planning process that's now in progress, the city would adopt a plan allowing casino operations on the Kinst site.

Thursday, Fillingame downplayed the chances that any casino could obtain the permits necessary to locate on the Kinst tract.

"It could only be put in wetlands. You know the chances of that," said Fillingame.

But Councilman Tad Black said he'd been surprised the state Gaming Commission had issued site approval for a casino located at the end of a 1,200-foot canal through wetlands next to the Dupont Plant.

VFW to distribute child's safety tips

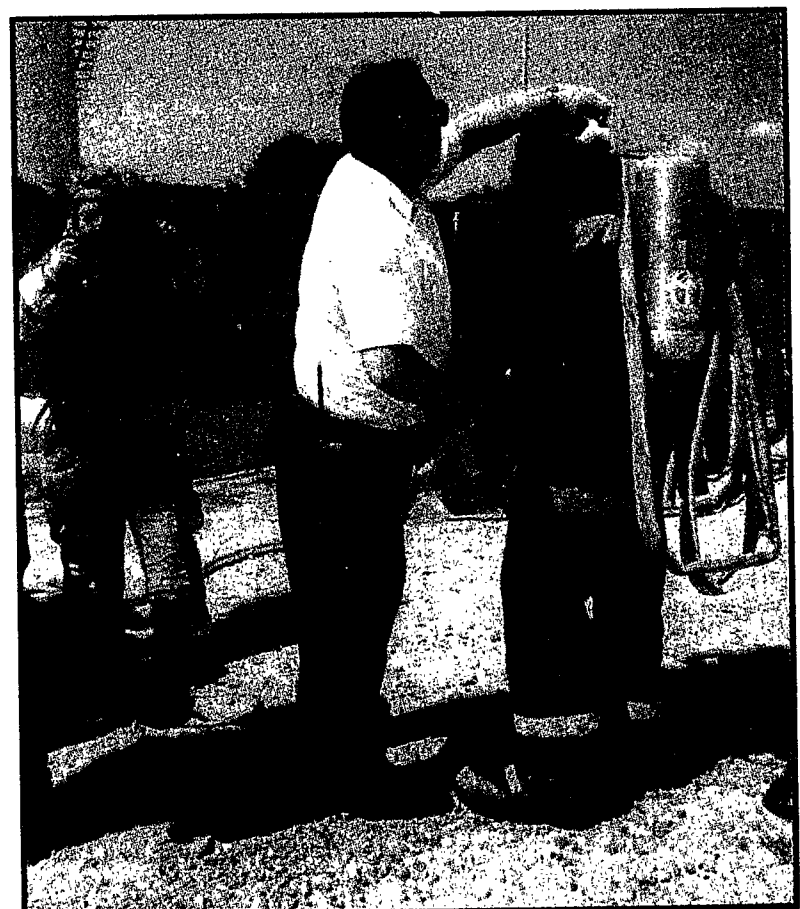

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Bay St. Louis Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 3253 with the endorsement of Bay Mayor Eddie Favre, has purchased VFW 'Safety Tips For Children' cards for distribution to area school children.

The cards have ten good rules for children to follow, Gene Schloegel, VFW quartermaster said.

Recent attempted abductions of children in and around the Ocean Springs area has prompted the VFW to take this action, Schloegel said.

The cards will be delivered to the Bay area's schools for distribution to the students.

Schloegel said, "The suspect in the Ocean Springs area, as reported by the FBI and police, may have already left the area, but, the VFW feels the distribution of 'Safety Tips For Children' cards will give children 10 basic rules to follow for their protection."

Weidman announces for Waveland mayor

Stan Weidman
Stan Weidman announces his candidacy for the office of mayor of the City of Waveland.

Weidman, 47, was born and raised in Waveland.

He attended the University of Southern Mississippi, where he earned a bachelor of science degree in municipal recreation administration and a master of science degree in outdoor resources and park management.

He has served as alderman from Ward 4 for the past four years and has over 11 years experience in city government. He was the first Republican ever elected to office in the City of Waveland.

During his term as alderman, Weidman says he always promoted and voted for accountability in government; citizen input in the government process; balanced budgets; responsible spending; economic development; and providing adequate services and protection to citizens.

Weidman says he has consistently voted against wasteful spending; unjust termination of city employees; selling city services without adequate compensation; and approval of "blank" contracts with little or no information concerning the city's obligations or compensation.

Weidman says that city government should be informative, responsive and accountable to the citizens, and he has actively promoted honest and open government.

Weidman is concerned with the welfare of all the citizens of Waveland, not just a selected few. He is prepared to work with the informed citizens to restore Waveland to a position of prominence on the Gulf Coast.

He states that "tax dollars should pay for services needed in the community (street repair, drainage, water and sewer maintenance, police and fire protection and recreational facilities), not waste and mismanagement."

Toward that end, Weidman proposes review and overhaul of the City Charter to bring it into line with the demands of today's society. He has initiated a drive to place the following issues on the ballot for public referendum: full-time mayor; citizens right to recall elected officials; and term limits.

Alderman Weidman said as mayor he will continue to stand for open, honest and accountable government.

FAA mandates which require grooving of the runway.

"Our runway is not grooved. Grooving provides a greater amount of traction for large planes. I think that the FAA knew that we desperately needed the overlay and that we could also use this money to have the grooving work done," Cordon said.

Cordon said what is amazing about the whole thing is that Stennis International Airport received for the grant the exact amount that they applied for. "This was unbelievable," Cordon said. "They said that they attributed it to the efficient way that the application was filed. Everything that needed to be attached to the application was attached."

So far this year, current airport manager Dave Reuscher said, the airport has had in excess of 600 charter flights land at Stennis.

Deterioration of the runway has been caused, not only by the large planes landing at Stennis, but by the weather.

"Time and weather add as much or more to the deterioration of the runway as traffic does," Cordon said.

"Asphalt is a petroleum-based product. It does not withstand large temperature and rain differentiation very well. Between the large contrast in our hot and cold weather and our normal seasonal rainfall, these things cause the asphalt to crack and then come up in chunks," Reuscher said.

The runway is designed to handle dual-wheel gear planes with a gross weight of 170,000 pounds and should be able to handle planes with a greater weight after the new overlay is complete, Cordon said.

Right now, the existing concrete apron is too small to park and unload passengers efficiently.

"We don't have enough room to park the planes on the apron and unload passengers. We are having to move the planes to the north apron and that is not very efficient or convenient," Cordon said.

on during the Thursday meeting included planners' recommendations for historic preservation measures. Fillingame said while there's no historic district designated on the proposed land use map, the study clearly defines a need for preservation measures.

In a 31-page draft chapter of the comprehensive plan, consultants said the city should "encourage restoration, preservation, conservation and/or adaptive reuse of historically significant buildings and neighborhoods."

Planners suggested historical preservation regulations should be adopted for "appropriately designed national registered districts." They said design guidelines and architectural examples of new construction or replacement structures should be created.

Councilmen Charles Scianna and Tom Farve initially expressed reluctance to make the draft recommendations for long-range goals and objectives available to the public. They said since the document is so preliminary, council members should have a chance to review it and recommend changes before it is available to the public.

Councilman James Thriffley, however, said the public should have a chance to read the draft document.

"It doesn't behoove us to keep it under wraps," said Thriffley.

He gave copies of it to reporters and civic association members present at the meeting.

While the document is general in nature, it is broad in the scope of matters addressed: from air quality, arts and community appearance to land use, police and fire protection, and water supply.

The document's section on housing called for a variety of size and density arrangements, with "efficient use of and resources" by developing vacant parcels in serviced areas of the city.

It also calls for adequate manpower in the building inspection and code enforcement sector, with "active" enforcement of the housing code concentrating on vacant, dilapidated structures.

Fillingame said the work represents the foundation of the overall plan. Consultants hope to have the plan completed by December.

Waveland will be First tomorrow, only if...

we put the children of Waveland First today

"My commitment to Waveland is an investment in the future of our children. I want to build for them a community in which they can be proud to raise their own families. Waveland should be filled with exciting opportunities, yet be at peace with the beauty of its past. Help me put our children first through WAVELAND FIRST."

Keith Mitchell has been a vital part of the positive growth and development of many of Waveland's young people. He's been a little league coach and soccer coach, but his commitment to our children has been far greater than that of the glory of a ballfield.

Keith Mitchell has helped children in many ways...like his work with the South Mississippi Exchange Club's Family Child Center...and his involvement as a leader in RAINBOWS FOR ALL GOD'S CHILDREN, a support/counseling program for children with divorced/deceased parents. He's seen life hit some of our children right between the eyes. He's done whatever he could to help. As Waveland's first full-time mayor, he will be able to do a lot more.

Gang & drug activity among our young people is increasing at an alarming rate. Keith Mitchell is committed to providing the right opportunities to keep our children off the streets and under the positive influences of caring adults. WAVELAND FIRST, Keith Mitchell's plan of action for our city, puts our CHILDREN FIRST by instituting a parks and recreation program that will afford meaningful activities and most importantly, minimize gang and drug activity.

As a 6th generation, lifelong resident of Hancock County with four children of his own, Keith Mitchell will put our children and WAVELAND FIRST.

QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

An election nears in the City of Waveland. I have noticed numerous signs candidates have posted about the community.

One of the things that happens every election is some of the candidates' signs are tampered with or destroyed. There are rules and regulations for political signs in Waveland. As long as these are followed, political signs should be left alone.

The only thing I like to see is that they are removed by the candidates or by their supporters when an election is completed.

Whether you are for a candidate or not, they all have the same rights to posting signs as the others.

There is no way all candidates can win, but we must remember, no matter the candidate, they feel they can do a better job at the position.

Our American type of government gives anyone who is qualified an opportunity to seek the office of his or her choice.

One of the reasons for America's 200-plus years of being a nation is our election process — let us not destroy this great heritage.

It is so good to see the curbing change being made at the intersection of Easterbrook Street and U.S. Highway 90.

It has been very hard to make a right turn when traveling east along Highway 90 without striking the curb with your back wheel.

I know I am not the only one who has struck the curb many times, especially when there was a vehicle waiting to enter the highway from Easterbrook.

I saw city crewmen building the new curbing Friday, and it was a good site to see.

Many improvements are being done by the Bay's administration, and I know they are appreciated by the public. Keep up the good work, Mayor Favre, and everyone else involved.

Bay St. Louis is on the move.

Did you read the front page of today's Echo and see where the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission has been awarded a $1.7 million grant from the federal government and some $96,000 from the state for airport improvements?

These monies come at a time when everyone says there are no grant monies available.

It is good to be able to do a $1.8 million project and receive 90% from the federals and 5% from the state, and locals have to come up with 5%.

Everyone who has had something to do with this big grant for the Hancock County Airport should be commended.

I hate to start mentioning names, because there may be someone I am not aware of who has made a contribution.

You know who you are, so congratulations to each and every one of you.

Hancock County continues to be a leading county in our state in growth.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Merit Schools can bring Mississippi straight A's

To the Editor:

It is a long road from the State Capitol to the classroom. I have personally visited with administrators and teachers throughout our state to better understand the needs of our children and their schools.

Our history is littered with education reform movements that were tried and discarded. Yet for every roadblock, there is someone cutting a new path.

As part of my ongoing commitment to education, I want to reward those public schools in Mississippi that are providing an enriched learning environment for our children and truly teaching them to think.

The largest appropriation bill passed each year by the Legislature is the minimum foundation program which funds teacher salaries and public schools in grades K-12.

In 1994, $385 million new dollars were dedicated to our schools and colleges. We were able to make this massive contribution because of a rapidly expanding economy.

It is evident from this trend education is the primary subject addressed in our budget and will continue to be in the 1995 Regular Session.

The state of Mississippi continues its effort to insure all children are afforded the opportunity for a quality education.

We also must continue to build a sense of pride in our educational workforce. When our educators put forth extra effort on behalf of our children, we absolutely must recognize and reward them.

A strong educational system is a definite priority of your Lieutenant Governor but simply funding our educational system is not enough.

The Legislature, the community and all the people of Mississippi need to know how their schools are performing. Our best schools have complete support and commitment from their communities.

This same support for those who strive to improve themselves and the lives of those they teach must also be evident in the legislative process.

With the beginning of a new school year, we as parents and supporters must seek ways to improve and enhance the daily educational experiences of our children.

A key element to a quality education is the interaction between student and teacher.

I can honestly say that it takes a special person to coordinate a classroom on a daily basis as well as handle the social and emotional problems that arrive with the students.

Being aware of the demands placed on administrators and faculty should make us work even harder to recognize them for the work that they do. For this reason I will ask the Legislature to create a program called 'Merit Schools in Mississippi.'

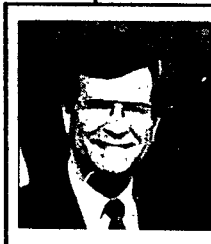

Special recognition will be given to individual schools achieving merit status. Each school will be evaluated against itself for improvement and continued excellence.

In addition, merit schools will receive a monetary reward. I will also ask for a special recognition day during the annual legislative session to honor merit schools and faculty.

The Merit School Program is basic and simple. By human nature, we all respond to challenges and rewards in a positive manner. Someone said it like this, "What gets measured gets done and what gets recognized gets done best."

We must designate money to education each year with a sense of purpose that accompanies our spending. As we spend our limited resources, we should target specific results and reward those who move Mississippi's educational system in the right direction.

Lt. Gov. Eddie Briggs
Jackson, Miss.

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator
Trent Lott

Small businesses lead the way

America's small business entrepreneurs have led the way in fueling our economy. Almost all the 11 million non-farm businesses in the U.S. are small, but they provide over 50 million jobs. We must keep them strong to ensure a growing economy.

In mid-September I had the opportunity to meet with representatives of the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB) about the issues necessary to create a climate conducive to small business. These independent, business people are the most energetic segment of our society.

Their small businesses with fewer than 20 employees create millions of new American jobs every year. In fact, 80 percent of all new jobs in 1994 will be created by businesses with 100 or fewer employees.

To keep that activity going, they need to now they can count on less federal interference and a lifting of burdensome federal regulations. They need the federal government to consider the needs of small businesses when writing regulations, and they do not need new ones that increase their paperwork burden with unnecessary reporting requirements.

Small businesses need to know that runaway agencies like the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) will not be allowed to run roughshod over their operations.

Because most small businesses are not corporations and pay taxes as individuals, they need the Congress to curb its appetite for spending and reduce — not increase — tax rates to increase the incentives for entrepreneurial activity and to provide investment capital.

A reduction in capital gains taxes would further stimulate capital formation and increase the return on small business investment.

The Administration needs to move quickly with the creation of enterprise zones to revitalize economically depressed areas by offering simplified regulation and lower taxes for small businesses that relocate there. We hope to have several enterprise zones created in Mississippi soon.

We need to make it earlier for small businesses to compete for government contracts, not only to assist the private sector but also to provide competition and greater cost control in federal purchases.

Job creation is the way to grow the economy. Offering incentives and support to the small businesses that create the jobs just makes common sense.

Mississippi began this year with a Number 1 ranking in economic growth for the nation. Keeping our small businesses strong will help us sustain that deserved ranking.

Senator Lott welcomes any questions and/or comments about this column. Please write to: Senator Trent Lott, 487 Russell Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 (Attention: Press Office).

Heavy traffic driving tips offered

With casinos creating heavy traffic in various areas of the state, it's particularly important that motorists be aware of safe driving steps in these areas, as well as in major cities, according to the Mississippi Division of Public Safety Planning.

"The first step is to use your vehicle safety belt," said Donald O'Cain, the division's executive director.

"It is well documented that using safety belts is one of the best safety steps a motorist can take."

Public Safety Planning also advises drivers to maintain a safe distance between them and the vehicle ahead to help prevent a crash if the vehicle ahead should suddenly stop.

Another step is to be prepared to brake. "Don't delay braking," O'Cain said, "and avoid slamming on your brakes."

He also cautioned drivers on problems of being "boxed in" by other vehicles.

"Try to avoid driving next to other vehicles if possible so you can leave yourself an 'out' is it's needed," O'Cain advised.

Drivers also should be prepared to slow down or change lanes quickly to avoid a crash. "Never drive under the influence of alcohol," he said.

"This is an extremely dangerous and foolish action for anyone driving a motor vehicle and is the cause of hundreds of highway deaths and serious injuries each year."

"Drive smoothly and at a steady pace," O'Cain added, "and, of course, always drive within the speed limit."

"Driving in heavy traffic can exert pressure to the point that a driver can forget or ignore safe driving habits," he noted.

"Yet, your driving can affect many lives in such traffic. A moment of carelessness could cause many years of regret."

BREWER'S WORLD

By Jimmie Brewer

The fall guy

Attention please! It is Sunday morning. It is time to wake up and take a visual check that all your limbs are still attached. If so, then throw them covers off and let's have some fun!

The writing of this column has been temporarily postponed today. I have spotted what appears to be a bumble bee buzzing around as if he owns the place.

Accordingly, I have put my pen down and have taken shelter until one of those macho press dudes arrives. (Two cups of coffee and two Salsas later all appears safe).

Hey, the big clock in the sky has turned again, giving us another season of frolicking fun. It's fall time.

It's time for all the "beach babes" to turn into "land babes." It's time to sit in the stands of your favorite football team with your hands wrapped around a cup of hot chocolate and snuggle beneath that grandma-made blanket.

Fall for "Brewer's World" means it's time to hit the sidelines equipped with my camera and reporter's pad.

I don't remember exactly when, why or how I was drafted to cover these high school football games, but I find it exhilarating and potentially dangerous.

It wouldn't be so bad if they supplied me with a tele-photo lens, but no, my camera has a regular lens with a range of approximately five feet, which means in order for me to shoot an award-winning picture I have to wait until bodies are flung in my direction. Then, with camera ready, just before I'm flattened like a pancake, I snap the picture, jump like a kangaroo and hope that I am still alive to take the next picture.

Let me tell you something, folks, I don't know what these high school kids are eating lately, but they are a lot bigger than I was when I was in high school. These dudes must be dining on Volkswagens and other large metal objects.

Every time I cover one of these games I imagine myself as part of the team. It is not uncommon for me to pull players aside for pep talks or high-five them when they make a play.

In fact, during one game I was so engrossed in the action that the coach tapped me on the shoulder and said, "Excuse me, Brewer, but I would appreciate it if you wouldn't get in my huddle."

Darn, I was just getting ready to send the wide receiver out for a pass.

Maybe that's why this week the boss did not assign me to cover a game. Oh, I'll make do. I'll just head for the country club and let the two best bartenders in the world, Greg and June, serve me up my favorite beverages.

Besides, Friday night is Karaoke Night, and I'll have several fans waiting to hear "Brewer's World" rendition of "Your Cheatin' Heart" by Hank Williams.

Praise for do-gooders this week goes out to all you down-to-earth, crawfish-head-sucking Southerners. Peace.

Board members said they felt that this would put the responsibility of the welfare of the child back with the parent and the parent could decide who they felt would be the best person to take care of the student.

Kopf said that he has taken students either to their parents or to the hospital, if it was necessary.

"Why should we allow students that are sick, who have vehicles, drive themselves home and be alone. If they are sick and the parents cannot pick the student up, they are allowed to come into the office and their condition is monitored. If they start feeling better, they are allowed to go back to class, if not, they stay in the office until it is time to go home. If they are very ill, we take whatever steps are necessary to make sure that the child receives medical attention," Kopf said.

"This is not an amendment to the policy just to allow anyone to pick up the student at any time. This is for medical reasons only. The secretaries come to work at 6:30 a.m. The parent can come to the school before work, if necessary, and put in the child's file that they have a doctor's appointment at a certain time, on a certain date, and then student can then be allowed to check out early.

No decision was reached at the workshop meeting Thursday afternoon. The board will meet again Monday at 5:30 p.m.

Warriors tumble Rocks 34-18

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The Rocks hit heartbreak row once again on Friday night. The Warriors used a dominating 28-point first-half surge to defeat the Rocks 34-18 inside the friendly confines of Rock Stadium.

Brandon Benoit, again, had a tremendous effort rushing 16 times for 92 yards.

The Rocks had a total of 103 rushing yards out of a combined total of 151 yards.

The Warriors tallied up 303 total yards, grinding out 225 on the ground.

Warrior running back Keith Bradley rushed for 100 yards and three touchdowns in the game.

The Rocks came out with some fire on their first possession of the game. Senior signal caller Nate Middleton connected with Benoit for a gain of 9 yards. After nominal gains by Benoit, the Rocks had to punt the ball away.

The Warriors started their touchdown drive on their own 33-yard line. Warrior running backs Josh Gregory and Bradley had gains of 15 and 12 yards respectively.

Bradley broke a 34-yard touchdown run with 6:34 left in the first quarter. The PAT by Phuong Dang was good and the score was 7-0.

The Rocks had three straight incomplete passes and had to punt back to the Warriors.

The Rock defense stopped and held the Warriors led by Max Lee. The Warriors went three plays and out.

The Rocks had an extensive, time-consuming drive on this possession.

Benoit scampered 15 yards for a first down. A 5-yard gain by Brooks Quinlan was followed by an 18-yard pickup by Benoit.

The Rocks came to a fourth-and-four situation and drew the Warriors offside for a first down.

After nominal gains by both Benoit and Nathan Middleton, the Rocks had to settle for a field goal.

Junior Correy Gex came in to split the uprights for a 31-yard field goal with 9:36 left in the first half. The score was now 7-3.

ing momentum as Jim Friedman punished the Warrior return man on the kickoff and Rocklinebacker Lee recovered a loose ball deep in Rock territory.

Chris Middleton powered his way forward for 5 yards for the Rocks. However, two plays later, the Rocks were intercepted by Warrior defensive back Chris Daniels.

The Warriors had the ball at the Rock 26-yard line and it did not take long to punch the score in.

Gex made good on the PAT and the Rocks trailed 28-10 with 1:07 to go in the half.

Lee ended the half by stuffing Warrior running back Joel Mayfield for a 3-yard loss. The Rocks took some momentum into halftime.

Daniels with a hit that sent a loose ball out of bounds.

The Warriors had to punt back to the Rocks.

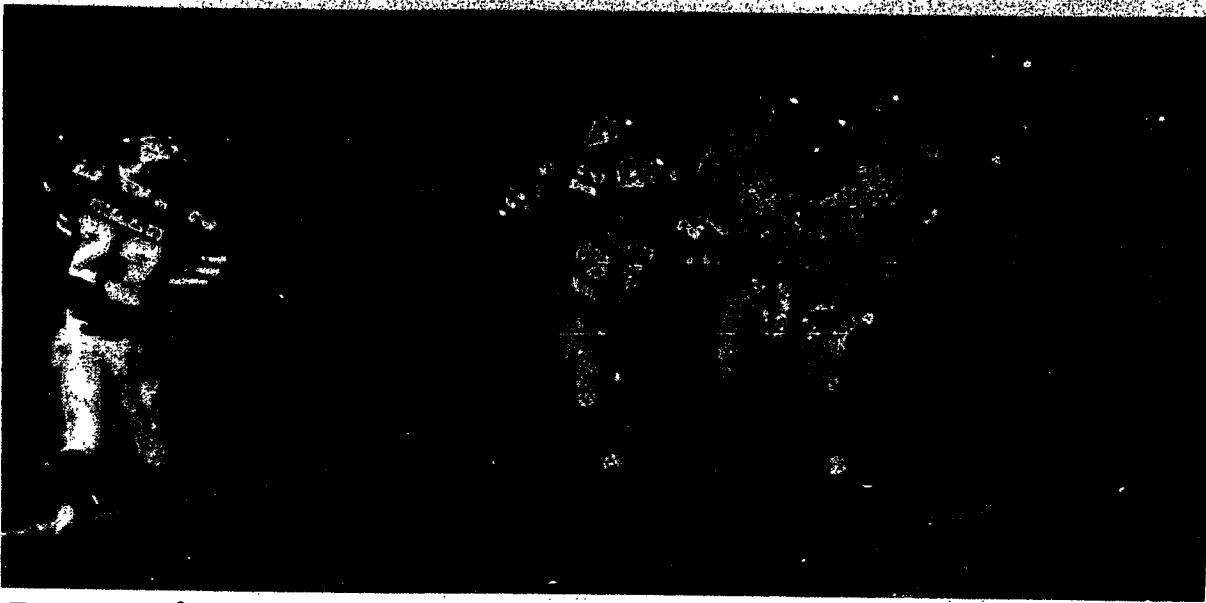

After nominal gains, the Rocks turned the ball over on downs.

The Warriors kept the ball on the ground.

Daniels and Bradley ran the ball deep into Rock territory.

The PAT by Dang was good and the score was 14-3.

The Rocks fumbled deep in their own territory on their next possession.

D'Iberville recovered the loose ball at the 19-yard line.

On the second play of their drive, D'Iberville's Bradley scored his second touchdown of the night on a 13-yard run.

The score came with 3:46 to go in the half. The two-point conversion was no good by the Warriors and the score was 20-3.

The Rocks got the kickoff and started at their own 28-yard line.

On the third play of the series, the Rocks fumbled once again and lost possession.

Warrior running back Josh Gregory caught an 18-yard pass from Daniels. On the next play, Bradley scored his third touchdown of the game on an 8-yard run.

The two-point conversion was good and with 1:20 left in halfkickoff back 41 yards before Raney Byrd was brought down by Jerry Polk. The Warriors proceeded to grind out yardage on the ground.

Gregory had gains of 6 and 4 yards.

Daniels scooted for another 18 yards and the Rock defense shut down Bradley.

The Warriors had to punt the ball away on their first possession of the second half thanks to tough defensive play by Lee and Al Terrell.

The Rocks put together a 16-yard drive that ate up the rest of the third quarter. Nathan Middleton completed a pass to Benoit for 11 yards.

Nathan Middleton went back to the air finding Quinlan for a gain of 15 yards.

Daniels ran for 8 yards and Bradley scampered for another 9.

The Rock defense stepped up and came through on a third-and-long situation.

Junior defensive end, Gex, nailed Warrior quarterback blocked by Derek Bradley and the score was 34-18.

The Rocks returned the ball to their 38-yard line.

Nathan Middleton completed a pass of 24 yards to Quinlan and he threw a lateral pass to a streaking Benoit for another 16 yards.

Nathan Middleton completed a pass to Benoit for another 14 yards. The drive was halted abruptly when the Rocks were intercepted in the end zone by Warrior defensive back Bao Nguyen.

The Warriors kneeled on the snap to run the clock out.

The final score was 34-18.

"I could not ask for a better effort. The boys sold out and left everything on the field. I was extremely proud of how they came out in the second half and played hard-nosed football," St. Stanislaus head coach Brannon LeBlanc said.

"Of course, Benoit's 80-yard touchdown return gave us a spark, but our defense stepped up and played excellent ball in the second half. We are getting better each week. Our junior varsity squad is playing hard and we are rebuilding the program. We are building and preparing for the future," he said.

SSC falls to 1-5 on the season and 0-2 in the division. The Rocks travel to Long Beach to take on the Bearcats next Friday. Game time is set for 7:30 p.m.

Hawks' defense was screwing up the Bearcats. This is the reason why they call it football. Hancock High head Coach Rocky Gaudin.

Hancock falls to 2-4 on the season, but is 1-1 in the district following the loss to Long Beach.

Hancock had the first possession of the game and started at its own 15-yard line.

The Hawks were unable to move the ball past their own 22-yard line and were forced to punt the ball away to Long Beach.

The Bearcats started in excellent field position at the Hawks' 48-yard line.

fumbled and Hancock made the recovery with 3:47 left in the first quarter.

Hancock, now in Long Beach territory, started with a first down at the 24-yard line.

The touchdown drive for Hancock was short and sweet, using up just a little over two minutes.

Long Beach quarterback Chris Reinike threw an incomplete pass into the end zone and with 8:35 left in the first quarter, the Bearcats were forced to turn the ball back over to Hancock.

The Hawks took over possession at their own 26, but were not able to advance any farther than their own 34-yard line and were forced to punt.

The advantage for the Hawks came when they punted the ball to Long Beach; the Bearcats line.

Another incomplete pass followed and Reinike decided to keep the ball. He ran it to the Hawks' 10.

Long Beach running back Avery Taylor fumbled the ball on the play and Hancock defensive tackle Ben Sones recovered possession with 10:08 still to go in the first half.

The Hawks were unable to capitalize on the fumble recovery and were forced to punt the ball away.

Long Beach flew the ball through the air to gain quick yardage.

Starting out at their own 39-yard line, the Bearcats' first pass went incomplete.

Then on second down, Reinike connected with McGill, who brought the ball into Hawk territory just over the 50 to the 48-yard line and a first down.

Another incomplete pass followed, then Reinike connected with Taylor who ran the ball to the Hawk 31-yard line.

Reinike was sacked for a loss of 3 yards on the next play, which brought Long Beach back to the Hawk 34-yard line.

Three plays later, on fourth down, Long Beach went for it and made the 31-yard touchdown through the air when Reinike connected with Mike Davis with 3:42 left in the half.

The PAT by Jacob Palmer was good and the score was tied at 7-7.

On the ensuing kickoff Schman Ladner ran the ball out to the Bearcat 27-yard line.

On first down Hay gained 2 yards.

Long Beach's second drive at the Hawk 10-yard line. Following an incomplete pass attempt and a Hawk penalty, the Bearcats advanced to the Hawk 17-yard line.

With 2:43 left in the half, the Bearcats scored on a 17-yard pass completion to Lance Allen bringing the score to 13-7.

The PAT was good and Long Beach was ahead by a score of 14-7.

Hancock fought hard on their next possession to advance.

An unsportsmanlike conduct call against Long Beach helped them to do just that.

On fourth down the Hawks decided to go for a field goal. The attempt by Carillo was good.

by Hancock to close out the first half of play.

Neither team was able to do much in the third quarter against the other's strong defense.

Then in the fourth Hancock came alive with a 50-yard punt return for a touchdown that could have won them the game by Billy Lee.

A clipping penalty was called against the Hawks and the touchdown did not count.

The Hawks eventually lost this possession on downs.

The game ended with the final score of 14-10 but, in the words of Gaudin, "It ain't over yet."

Hancock will face d'Iberville away Friday night with kickoff at 7:30 p.m.

Prepared For Disaster

Drills help to coordinate emergency services

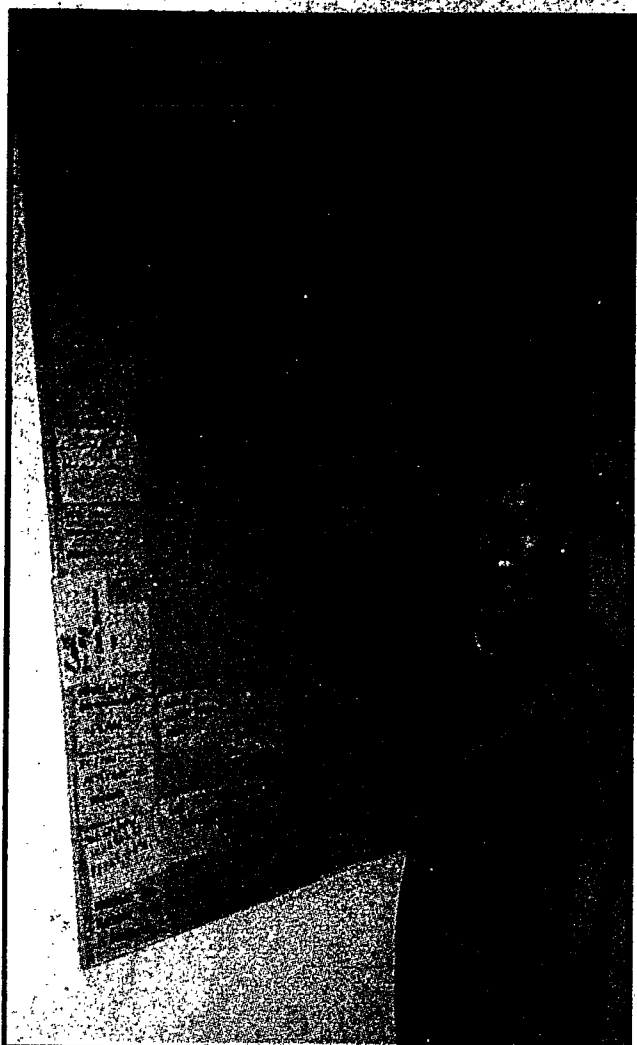

Civil Defense Coordinator Bobby Boudin was very pleased with the way agencies involved in Monday's drills, on how to deal with local disasters, carried out the exercises.

Participants and officials met on Thursday at Boudin's office to critique the drills and most said they learned a lot from the experience.

The county-wide drills are held each year to coordinate emergency services in case of disasters such as fires, chemical spills, hurricanes, tornadoes and industrial accidents. The drills have been going on for the last 18 years and are necessary to assure preparedness, Boudin said.

Participating companies in this year's full exercise were Alcan Cable and GE Plastics and agencies included Bay St. Louis Police and Bay St. Louis Fire Department, West Hancock Volunteer Fire Dept., Mobile Medic, the county's Hazmat team and Hancock Medical Center.

Boudin said that next year, on May 8, the exercise will be known as Response '95. It will go on for five days, 24 hours a day and businesses and industries are invited to participate. For more information or to participate in the drills, call him at 467-9226.

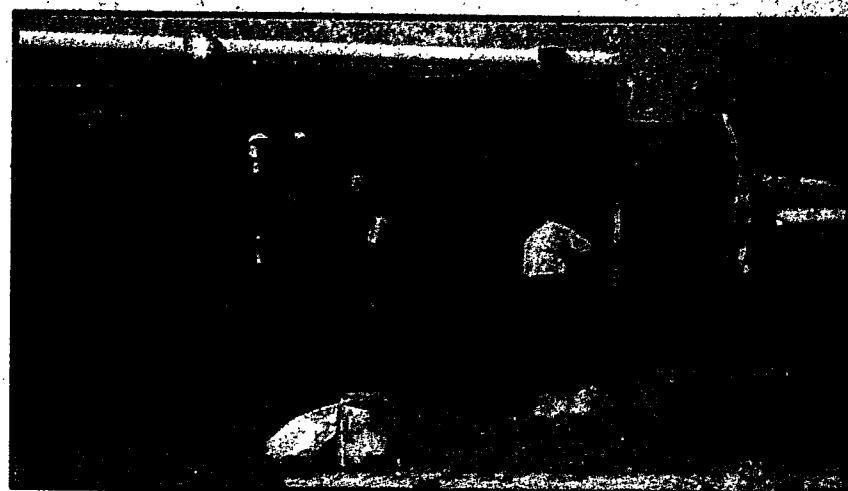

Pat Banasiak, GE Human Resources Manager explains project

GE Plastics wants to be on top of any emergency it might have at its Port Bienville location in Pearlinton. That is why the company participates in regular drills that reinforce their employees' skill in handling any crisis that might arise.

A mock accident was staged on Monday morning. Rescue teams consisting of GE and area fire department personnel went about their tasks saving a man who was injured and stopping a leak in one of the company's chemical storage tanks.

GE's rescue team brought the injured man by stretcher to safety after a brace had been secured on his neck and he had been examined to make sure he could be moved. To decontaminate him, he was thoroughly washed down with water before he was loaded into an ambulance for his trip to the Hancock Medical Center.

Members of the Hancock County Hazmat team then prepared to use a neutralizing foam in the containment area of the leaking tank. They donned air tanks, masks and gloves before attempting the job. The West Hancock Volunteer Fire Department did an excellent job in setting up for the Hazmat team, said Richard Pate, county fire marshal, who assisted with the exercise.

GE's well equipped emergency vehicle

After the Hazmat team had neutralized the area, they too had to wash down. Run off from their gear was contained within small wading pools atop heavy plastic sheeting. They were then checked by the company nurse and given liquids to replenish fluids lost during their arduous work.

The drill was further complicated by another incident in order to check out reaction time to a number of circumstances. A woman in the administrative office feigned a heart attack and had to be taken by ambulance to the hospital.

The company prepared in advance for the drill by holding meetings to discuss each participant's assignment. Then, they did a walk-through to check procedures. Kenny King, of GE, was field commander.

Pate said he appreciated the help from Mobile Medic, West Hancock VFD and praised the professional way GE handled the drill.

Plant manager Pierre Langevin said a head count showed two missing workers, who were rescued by Bay St. Louis police and fire officials inside the plant. The pair of practice victims were transported by Mobile Medic to Hancock Medical Center for treatment of smoke inhalation.

Wooden Boat Rendezvous

Celebrating the coast's heritage

BY CHARLEE MARSHALL

Boats have long been a part of history so it is not unusual for the Hancock County Historical Society to be sponsoring the upcoming Gulf Coast Wooden Boat Rendezvous Oct. 7-10 at the Casino Magic Marina.

Bay St. Louis, known as Shieldsboro back in the 1800's, was once the birthplace of wooden boat building on the Gulf Coast, so the rendezvous will celebrate the city's heritage with this event.

The vessels will have a gathering of sorts to exchange sea stories and generally have fun. Proceeds will go into a building fund which will be used to extend the Kate Lobrano House on Cue Street, headquarters for the Historical Society and to buy a computer that will be used to store historical data.

Charles Gray, president of the society, is quick to give credit for the idea of hosting the wooden boat rendezvous to Jude Miller, who with his wife Nancy are owners of Camp Maple Leaf in Bay St. Louis.

The Millers are the co-founders of the Madisonville Wooden Boat Fest in Louisiana and are familiar with this type of project.

They are the proud owners of the schooner Maple Leaf III that they bought five years ago in Gulfport. The schooner was used in its time to dredge for oysters and was in pretty bad shape when Jude came across it. He rebuilt much of the boat himself.

It took him a year to get the bottom in shape and two more to refurbish the rest of the schooner, Jude said. The Millers are still working to restore the craft.

The boat "had a lot of history," he added. It was built in 1952 in the Back Bay of Biloxi by Covacevich Boatyard and measures 58 feet from stem to stern.

It's the history that draws Jude Miller's interest and he in turn drew Gray's interest when he suggested that the society host the rendezvous. It was held in Biloxi last year.

"Wooden boat owners are a species unto themselves," Gray pointed out. He knows what he's talking about, for he once owned a wooden boat.

Invitations to participate in the rendezvous were sent out to 1,000 wooden boat owners in this region. The boats already registered for the activities vary in age. They were constructed from 1911 to 1993 and about 60 of them are waiting to take part. Registration is still going on.

The atmosphere will be alive with history. All volunteers, vendors, exhibitors and boat owners were asked to be in period costumes. Swallow tail coats, fluted top hats and tight knee pants will be the order of the day for all who have a flair for adventure. A costume contest will name the snappiest dressers.

Antique dealers are invited to sell marine-related antiques because the wooden boat owners collect them to accessorize their vessels.

Boat building exhibits will be set up as well as marine vendor booths and marine arts and crafts. A marine auction, marine art contest and a model boat contest will round out the activities.

Chefs at Casino Magic will be whipping up some splendid food to ward off hunger pangs. There will also be children's activities. Schooner excursions aboard the Glen L. Sweetman and Mike Sekul will be available and visitors can take home T-shirts and posters as reminders of the occasion.

The Hancock County Historical Society will gladly supply additional information about the Wooden Boat Rendezvous. Call 467-4090.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire-Caire

Canadian Bacon

Canadian Bacon (which is actually the boneless loin of pork, cured and smoked) is equally at home at a special occasion dinner as it is in the morning along with your grits and eggs or whatever.

There's almost no waste at all to it either, just a bit of fat edging the rosy pink edges of the meat. The roll of bacon is quite tasty when baked for a half hour or so in a slow oven, glazed as you would a ham with brown sugar, mustard and red wine and accented with cloves.

It's also delicious sliced and broiled for breakfast and makes tasty sandwiches as well. Another elegant and easy way to serve Canadian Bacon is:

CANADIAN BACON WITH ORANGE AND ONION
1 lb. approximately Canadian Bacon, sliced 1/4-inch thick (12 slices)
6 thin onion slices
6 thin orange slices with the rind removed
2 tsp. sugar

1 Tbsp. cornstarch
1 cup orange juice
1 orange, cut in sections
2 tsp. grated orange rind
2 cups cooked rice

Grease a shallow baking dish, and spread the rice over the bottom. Arrange 6 slices of the Canadian bacon over the rice, following with an onion slice and orange slice and finally, a bacon slice.

Pour over all a little orange juice to prevent drying out, and top with the orange rind and sections.

Bake in a slow 300-degree oven for 20 to 30 minutes. Meanwhile, mix the sugar and cornstarch together, add the orange juice and cook until the mixture is thick and clear, stirring to keep it from sticking to the pan. Pour over the baked dish and serve. (6 servings)

You may want to use cooked ham slices or slices of cooked chicken or turkey breast.

Offset program targets food stamp claims

The Mississippi Department of Human Services will be participating in the Federal Tax Refund Offset Program (FTROP) in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture, Food and Nutrition Service, and the Internal Revenue Service.

The program is aimed at collecting delinquent Food Stamp claims from former recipients who received overpayments because of fraud or failure to report household changes timely.

Notification letters will be mailed to responsible individuals informing them of their outstanding balance and alerting them that their debt will be submitted to the Internal Revenue Service for withholding from their 1994 tax refund unless the claim is paid in full within 60 days.

The amount of the Food Stamp debt can be reduced by voluntary payments made prior to the tax intercept by IRS.

Recipients of the notification will have an opportunity to provide evidence to reduce the amount of the debt or to show that the debt is not owed.

Inquiries concerning the Federal Tax Refund Offset Program liability may be directed to the Mississippi Department of Human Services, FTROP Unit, at 1-800-948-4050.

Frank Davis

Frank Davis introduces new cookbook at Bookends

Frank Davis will be at Bookends, 111 Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis on Saturday, Oct. 8 from 1-3 p.m. for a tasting and autographing party.

"As always, we're happy to reserve copies for people who cannot attend," said Susan Daigne of Bookends. Call 467-9623.

Davis has made the phrase "Naturally N'Awlins" a household staple to mean those things that make New Orleans unique and great.

In Frank Davis Cooks Cajun, Creole and Crescent City, Davis has pulled out some of his best hometown creations, like N'Awlins Pickled Onions, Old New Orleans Vanilla Ice Cream, Spicy N'Awlins Fried Ribs and Cajun Deep-Fried Breast of Turkey.

What is so good about this cookbook is that it looks high-calorie, but Davis adds a wealth of nutritional information and serving tips that make it possible to eat the hearty local cuisine without taking on weight.

For additional help in the kitchen, Davis includes instructions for a number of tasks easily overlooked in cookbooks. Among the special lessons are choosing professional cookware and grilling the perfect steak.

Davis is resident chef, features editor and outdoor director of WWL-TV in New Orleans. He also appears weekly on his cooking show for the "Eyewitness Morning News." He also hosts "The Fishin' Game Report."

He is the author of The Frank Davis Seafood Notebook, Frank Davis Cooks Naturally N'Awlins, and The Frank Davis Fishing Guide to Lake Pontchartrain and Lake Borgne, all published by Pelican.

Choose clothing styles to emphasize strengths

By Dr. Ann Jarratt

4-H Youth Development Specialist
Cooperative Extension Service

"I've seen letters from people complaining about being overweight. I've got the opposite problem. I'm too skinny. Ever since I can remember people have called me bean pole, bones and other names. They make me feel terrible.

"You'd think people would know I don't want to be skinny. I'd like to have the perfect figure that would make guys whistle when I walk by, but that'll never happen without a minor miracle.

"I eat three meals a day, occasionally drink a milk shake, and always pig out on dessert. My weight stays the same. What can I do? I wish I could put a sack over my head so nobody would know whose body they're seeing."

One person's delight usually is someone else's dilemma, which doesn't help your feelings at all right now. I understand that you're not happy with the way your body looks.

I don't have an instant solution, but I can suggest a few things you might try. Selection clothes with your body type in mind can make a big difference in how you look. Textured fabrics and bright colors make you look larger.

Your height also makes a difference in the garments you would want to choose. If you're tall and wish to appear shorter, try to choose patterns that are horizontal, making the eye go from side to side rather than up and down.

For example, a very tall person who wanted to look shorter and larger would choose horizontal stripes. A tall, slender person could wear big, fuzzy sweaters, thick and textured fabrics, etc.

If you're more on the short side and want to appear taller, choose garments with tops and bottoms of the same color. A contrasting belt, particularly a wide one, has the effect of cutting you in half and making you appear shorter.

If you're interested in learning more about selecting clothes that help give the appearance you want, visit with your county extension 4-H youth agent or home economist. They have up-to-date information on smart clothing selection.

Two other things that come to mind are health and attitude. Have you had a physical and talked with your physician about your desire to gain weight? I recommend you do that if you haven't been to a doctor in a year or more.

Attitude is the one thing you can control. Many things about you are more important than whether your body is thin or fluffy. Concentrate on the things you've got going for you. Keep developing your strengths.

Be interested in other people. When you concentrate on others, there's less time to be concerned about what's wrong with you. *

If you have questions concerning your teenage years, write Dr. Ann Jarratt, 4-H youth development specialist, Box 9641, Mississippi State, MS 39762.

THANKSGIVING NOVENA TO ST. JUDE

O Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. St. Jude pray for us and all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys and Glorias. This Novena has never been known to fail.

Catfight wounds veterinary attention

By Dr. Wynn Jones
Veterinarian
MSU College of Veterinary Medicine

"I have a 6-year-old male cat who cannot stay out of trouble. He insists on being outdoors most of the time and often comes home with minor surface wounds. I suspect he is getting into fights with neighborhood cats, but he has been neutered. "He has had an infection or two develop from what must be bite wounds, but they have cleared up without difficulty. I suspect we have been lucky up to now. Should I do more when my cat comes home with a bite wound?"

When your cat returns home limping or showing signs of being in a fight, examine your cat's body to find where the wounds are located.

If you run your fingers through the fur where the injury is located, you usually will find loose tufts of fur or dried blood. Also feel for tenderness and swelling.

When you find the wounded area, carefully trim away the fur, and look for puncture marks. There often will be more than one.

Because bite wounds seal rapidly, bacteria is easily trapped inside. The result may be a painful swelling, or it may be concentrated into an abscess.

Either type of infection will eventually break down and discharge pus. With a cat's licking the area, a wound sometimes heals itself.

However, the infection can recur at the site, and the bacteria circulating in the blood may be passed on to other parts of the body such as the heart, liver, lungs, kidneys and brain.

Therefore, bite wounds should receive veterinary attention. Your veterinarian will treat the wound and administer an antibiotic.

I also would suggest trying to keep your cat indoors as much as possible, especially at night. His luck can't hold up forever.

Drafting

Students create designs on computer in Pearl River Community College's drafting laboratory. The PRCC drafting lab is set up with the CAD system — computer aided drafting.

In years past, to design a house, a piece of machinery or a bridge, architects spent hours perfecting their drawings on a drafting table. Those days are over. Forget the wrinkled paper, pencil smudges and ink blotches. Digitizer pads have replaced pencils. A few keystrokes and a click on a mouse can mean the difference in hours of drawing time.

Library branches extend days, change hours

The Kiln and Waveland branches of the Hancock County Library System will now be open more days, according to Prima Plaque, library system director. Beginning Monday, Oct. 3, the branches will be open Monday through Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Computers have revolutionized drafting classes at Pearl River Community College. It's called CAD — Computer Aided Drafting.

headquarters branch in Bay St. Louis will provide full weekend library services. More information is available by calling the Kiln Library at 2550-1724, the Waveland Library at 467-9240 or the City-County Library at 467-5282.

CAD is a big hit with PRCC drafting students. Robert Shamp, a sophomore majoring in construction engineering, started this third semester of CAD this year.

"We're fortunate to have one of the better learning facilities for CAD," Gammel said. "People as far away as Jackson and Meridian come here to get drafters, although they have training programs there."

"CAD simplifies architecture," said Shamp. "Instead of having a multitude of drawings, in CAD you can complete all your drawings on the screen."

Shamp, from Mobile, Ala., worked the last 10 years as an electrical superintendent for Tidewater and Bender Ship Building Company. He first took drafting at Pearl River in 1980 when students created drawings on a board.

"CAD is accurate and wonderful," said William Lee of Picayune. "The teachers make it wonderful."

It's a lot easier and faster than the board," said Randy Beets of Columbia. "We've tried the other way. We spent a semester and a half on the board."

Gammel said that the computer technology does not replace the need for drawing skills.

more precise than manual drafting.

Students in PRCC's machine design class draw machine parts, such as sliding blocks and adjusting levers. Where these drawings once required about two days of two-hour classes, CAD enables students to finish in about an hour and a half.

In the class, the students first make the machine parts manually on a lathe at PRCC's machine shop. They then write a computer program, and plug the information into what is called a Master CAD program. The computer, shows students exactly how to write the program to make the part.

The Master CAD program sends a Counter Numerical Control (CNC) to the milling machine. The CNC is a computerized lathe that is programmed for height, width and depth only. The CNC milling machine designs the same part the students made manually.

Instructors use this method to show students how the machine parts are made in the shop and the time involved on a manual machine compared to the CNC.

The CNC machine can make parts in large quantities. For example, the CNC can produce 2,000 tractor pins much faster than a laborer can manually make them on a lathe.

"It's like a robot," said Gammel. "You just tell it what to do."

Lee said he chose PRCC's program because industries recruit drafters from the college.

"The Technology Department helps us find jobs. People call here for drafters and our teachers have contacts in the field," Lee said.

"CAD is the way of the future," said Shamp. "The trend in technology advancement is to design everything on a computer. It saves time and is much

Repeat Performance

"Consignments at Their Best"

Jo Creed, owner and operator of Repeat Performance, has been in the consignment business for over 11 years. Offering fashions for men, women, and children, Jo has taken consignment to an almost unbelievable level.

When you walk into the store, it appears to be a large and expensive boutique. Upon closer inspection (price tags), you realize that these great clothes and accessories are extremely affordable. Everything looks brand new, and many items are, but they cost only 1/4 to 1/3 their original price. For example, an elegant black suede jacket normally over $120.00 is only $30.00! There is nothing but top quality, perfect condition, affordable merchandise at Repeat Performance.

If you would like to make a little money back on those clothes you just don't wear (or can't quite fit into anymore), you may be interested in becoming a consignor. How does consignment work? Well, there is a 50/50 split. The prices are determined by Repeat Performance, based on 1/4 to 1/3 their original price. First time consignors or anyone with over 5 items needs to make an appointment. The merchandise must be spot free, clean, ironed, no missing belts (on dresses) or buttons, no holes, etc. and current styles only (1-3 years old). They love to sell natural fibers. And remember, Repeat performance carries clothing for all ages and sizes!

Whether you're interested in buying top quality clothes for a very low price, or cleaning out your closets, take a trip over to Slidell and see Jo. For more information, call (504) 646-1166. Located right off Cause Blvd. in The Crossing Shopping Center, 106 U.S. Highway 190W Slidell, Louisiana.
